CHI Builders, Inc., a company that specializes in selling and installing door and window automation systems, has been in business since 2008 and has extensive experience in and knowledge of the automation industry. As CEO of CHI Builders, Richard Clark knows the value of his company’s relationships with automation manufacturers. It is for this reason Richard chooses to partner with Summit Automation.

Starting out, Richard saw CHI’s potential to grow if they were to partner with an automation supplier. He was looking for a company that he would be proud to put his name behind.

“I would have stepped into automation earlier if there were products out there that were worth something,” says Richard.

During this search, Summit Automation stood out from the pack because their high-quality motors were manufactured better than any other motors on the market. CHI officially partnered with Summit two years ago, which, since then, has come to benefit both parties.

“Summit’s software and technology have advanced beyond everyone else in the industry, and they always look for ways to push ahead,” says Richard.

This partnership has allowed CHI Builders to leave the general contractor business and solely sell and install Summit Automation products. CHI’s clientele includes homeowners and building contractors, as well as door and window vendors. Richard states that none of this would be possible if it weren’t for the quality business that Summit provides.

“We build our company around our customer service, and the service we receive from Summit is top-notch,” says Richard.

Ultimately, CHI Builders can better assist all their customers with their modern home automation because of the smooth partnership they hold with Summit Automation.
