

Customer Success Story

SUMMIT
AUTOMATION

Bringing Doors to Life!

"Our projects involve a large number of custom units, so if the Summit system doesn't already do what we need, they make it happen. The people at Summit are approachable, accessible, and easy to communicate with."

Michael Borzorgi Regional Sales Manager

Located in the bustling city of Las Vegas, Panda Windows & Doors provides a wide array of expertly engineered windows and doors to industries such as night clubs, hotels, casinos, and a variety of residential and commercial companies. Panda ships all over North America, including Canada and Mexico and works with architects and homeowners to make their dreams a reality.

Michael Borzorgi has been Panda's Regional Sales Manager for two years but has a cumulative twenty-five years of experience in the door and window industry. When Michael began working for Panda, he found himself managing a project in Chicago and was soon introduced to Summit Automation. Summit's automation systems were American-made and were compatible with Panda's products. This intrigued Michael, and it was then that Panda began to partner with Summit.

Since then, Summit has gone above and beyond to help Panda's clients.

"Our projects involve a large number of custom units, so if the Summit system doesn't already do what we need, they make it happen," says Michael.

Panda's projects often require much customization, so their engineer team must work closely with Summit to accomplish what their customers want.

"With so many third-party applications, the Summit motors make it easy to incorporate what our clients want their system to do," says Michael.

Panda has not considered working with any other company because of Summit's incredible customer service and their ability to think outside the box to create the custom features Panda's clients often request.

"The people at Summit are approachable, accessible, and easy to communicate with," says Michael.

It is because of Summit Automation's help that Panda can continue to provide high-quality door and window products to their clients, matching all their needs, day in day out.